

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

ham, England.

AUTHOR'S NOTE.

IT is known to many who will see these pages that the writer has been engaged for some years in the study of the history of the Family of Gilman. Like many similar undertakings, the investigation was begun merely as a pastime, and was so pursued until, at the solicitation of friends, arrangements were made for the publication of such information as should be elicited. In pursuance of this design an outline sketch of the family in America has been prepared and submitted for the correction of errors, and in order that still more history may be obtained. The present outline of the family in England is presented to the descendants of Edward Gilman there for the same purpose.

The two parts are to be published together, as soon as it may properly be done, and the friends in England will assist much in making the final publication perfect, by communicating to the author any particulars which may be omitted.

The author desires to have the name of every member of the family, with the following information concerning each :

1. When and where born, or baptized.
2. Biographical sketch.
3. Wife's name, the name of her parents, with date and place of her birth, marriage and death.
4. Name in full of all children, with dates and places of birth and death, and all other details usually found in family records.

A reference will probably be made in the final publication to such other branches of the family as may exist, and of which the author may become cognizant. The author has lately been put in correspondence with a member of the family of Gillman of Rock House near Ballinadee, county Cork, Ireland, Henry Gillman, Esq., now connected with the U. S. coast survey, and lately of Detroit, Mich., U. S. A. Mr. Gillman is connected with James Gillman of Oakmount, and the others of the name in county Cork.

This sketch is illustrated with a portrait on steel of Professor Chandler Robbins Gilman, M. D., of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York. The portrait is engraved by Ritchie, and is inserted as a sample of the style in which others are to be made for the work, several of which are either finished or in the engraver's hands.

A small view representing the residence of the late Samuel Heyhoe Le Neve Gilman is inserted, and is from a photograph kindly furnished by James Feltham of Hingham. Other larger wood cuts are in preparation. The printing, executed by Mr. Munsell, well known for his success in this peculiar style of work, speaks its own praise.

It is proposed to publish a genealogy which shall be a credit to the Gilman name, and a monument to the worth of our ancestors, both in its mechanical execution, and in the intrinsic value of its facts, and to effect this it is necessary that every one should take that interest in the undertaking which will lead him to see that his record at least, is correctly made.

All are therefore earnestly requested to communicate what items they can to the undersigned, of whom further information may be had.

The family's obedient Servant,

ARTHUR GILMAN of Glynlllyn.

From the Norfolk Chronicle of April 14th, 1860.

[This is a weekly newspaper printed and published in the city of Norwich.]

THE LATE MR. S. H. LE NEVE GILMAN.

In our last we recorded the death on the 14th instant, of Samuel Heyhoe Le Neve Gilman, of Hingham, Eng., in the 87th year of his age. His remains were interred on Tuesday last at Hingham. The funeral was attended by his relatives and friends, and many of the tradesmen and inhabitants of the Parish. During nearly all his long life he resided in his native town of Hingham, in which place his family have been settled for many generations, and have always held an high and honorable position. As a private gentleman he was honoured with the friendship of many of the noble and worthy of our land; in his own circle he was cherished as a true and valued friend; and to all, whether in prosperity or adversity, he readily afforded all the assistance in his power, both by his advice and his purse. As a lawyer, his talents and high moral and intellectual character procured for him the respect of his professional brethren and the confidence of his clients. He also for many years held the appointment of distributor of stamps for Norwich and Norfolk. In the earlier part of his life he took a prominent and active part in the political questions of the day. He was engaged on several occasions as the agent of the conservative party; and his strenuous exertions and indefatigable zeal contributed greatly to the success of the conservative cause, and ultimately to gain the elections for the late Edmund Wodehouse, Esq., one of the late members for Norfolk His name is so identified with the prosperity of Hingham, that there is scarcely a person in the middle ranks of life, living in the place, who has not been benefitted by his numerous and important undertakings. He has died full of years and full of honors. He has carried with him to his grave the respect and esteem of all who knew his private worth; and in him many have lost an inestimable friend, a kind master, and a generous benefactor. Of him it may in truth be said, that a good man and good christian has passed from amongst us.

Mrs. Gilman is now residing in Hingham, and it is to her kindness that I owe the opportunity of making copies of valuable documents preserved by her late husband. Mr. Gilman had made the history of the Gilman Family a matter of much study and expensive research, and to his pains the family owes a debt which can perhaps never be repaid. Through the kind offices of Mr. James Feltham, who was long associated with Mr. Gilman, views in Hingham have been obtained and those which are not presented in this sketch are to appear in the completed work.

GILMANS OF LONDON.

The family of which Ellis James Gilman, Esq., of Lombard St., London, is one, I have made some efforts to trace, but without success, as yet. I am under obligations to him and to his brother, R. J. Gilman, Esq., of The Mount, Bishopslake, near Winchester, for valuable information concerning the family in Sussex and Ireland.

The two following epitaphs were kindly copied for me by the last named gentleman.

In Reigate church.

Against the north aisle of the church is a Brass Plate with this inscription:

Ecce jacent subter pedibus simul ossa duorum

GILLMAN OF OAKMOUNT.

Gillman, Jas., Esq., of Oakmount, Co. Cork, J. P., born 14 April, 1804; married 3 March, 1842, Elizabeth Sarah, only daughter of the late Herbert Gillman, Esq., of Bennet's Grove, Co. Cork, and has issue, James Herbert, born 22d Sept., 1845,

Amelia Davies, ———.

Lineage. The Gillmans of Ireland are stated in an old family tradition to be descended from a Christian knight of that name who, during the crusades was engaged in single combat with a Saracen, whose right leg he cut off with a sabre cut. This capture is commemorated in the coat of arms; and the crest, a griffin's head with a bear's paw in its mouth, being emblematic of strength, together with the motto, "Not by word, but by deed," tend to confirm the legend. The first who settled in Ireland, were two officers in king William's army, 1690, one of whom survived, and received a grant of land. It is supposed that they had previously come to England from Normandy in France. ARMS. Az. a dexter leg cut off above the knee. ppr. CREST. A griffin's head erased with a bear's paw in its mouth. MOTTO. Non cantu sed actu. Seat, Oakmount, Co. Cork.
